

Discover the best Disneyland Paris hotels for a magical stay with kids

We've consulted our Disney experts - parents with numerous visits under their belt - to help you plan a magical trip. Here are the best Disneyland Paris hotels to stay in, either in or near the park.

Whether it's an on-site, luxury Disney resort you're wanting, or something a little more low-key while you explore the parks, we've covered all budgets while considering location, facilities and theming (yes, the Disney theming shouldn't be missed).

Located around 40 minutes away from Paris' Charles de Gaulle Airport, Disneyland Paris is out of the city centre, in the suburb of Marne-la-Vallee. It is easily accessible via train and car, however most nearby hotels offer free shuttle bus services, and some are even within walking distance of the parks... Although after a full day stomping around Disney, it may be more of a crawl back to your bed on an evening. Your step count will be through the roof!

All official Disney hotels come with the added perk of early entry into the parks, giving you extra time to enjoy the magic before the crowds arrive. Trust us, any extra time you can get your hands on to explore the beauty of this place really is priceless, but of course, staying at an official Disney hotel is reflected in the price.

To help you plan a trip, we've reached out to the experts - trusted 'Disney adults' who have shared their endless tips and tricks, and filled us in on the best places to stay. We've considered a variety of budgets, researched a range of requirements and evaluated all locations to ensure you get the best from your stay for you and your family.

After all, it's not a trip you make off the cuff - a lot of planning and a lot of saving goes into visiting Disneyland Paris, so we understand there's plenty to consider when choosing where to stay.

Our verdict

A boutique hotel offering the perfect location to discover the magic of Disney. This hotel hosts 152 spacious rooms, including the "XL Family Room" for up to eight guests! A fantastic find for bigger groups.

This hotel offers a great location just a five minute drive from Disneyland Paris, but equally provides a break from the non-stop Disney bubble which some guests may welcome.

Staying here you can make use of the on-site car park or benefit from the free shuttle service to and from the Disney parks, too.
